Only certified facilitators work with participants in a maximum ratio of one facilitator to 8 participants to guarantee maximum benefit and interaction. Equine Assisted Learning (EAL) is a learner based educational experience with horses. EAL is an effective approach to human development that encourages individual and team growth. Participants engage in objectively driven exercises and find themselves learning valuable life skills in a fun and exciting atmosphere while working with horses. EAL has proven to be effective, powerful, positive, educational and creative. Equi-steps emphasizes it's Building Block curriculum of facilitating life skills through positively reinforced interaction with horses. Exercises are developed to encourage self-confidence and a variety of life and problem solving skills through validated, hands-on experiences. EAL is a unique, highly specialized field in that all interactions take place on the ground and involves no riding. EAL is a rapidly growing field that is well researched, documented, and scientifically proven. Equi-steps offers EAL programs for individuals and groups including but not limited to those impacted by PTSD, Depression/Anxiety, ASD, bullying, grief, health issues, significant life change, family challenges, as well as positive team building workshops for corporations, families, couples and sports teams. All programs are tailored to meet the individual needs of the client.
